

You Don't Want To Miss

The Surveillance Detection Awareness Virtual Roundtable

Everyday our critical infrastructure is at risk from people who seek to do harm and disrupt the American way of life. Keeping our facilities safe is a job for all of us.

Surveillance Detection Awareness on the Job is part of Department of Homeland Security's "See Something, Say Something" campaign to raise public awareness of potential indicators of terrorism, crime, and other threats, and to emphasize the importance of reporting suspicious activity to law enforcement authorities. This free, online interactive session of video scenarios, commentary by a panel of experts, and your questions and comments will better prepare you to guard against surveillance activities.

When: Thursday, September 9, 2010

Time: 2:00 p.m. – 3:30 p.m., EDT

Who Should Attend: Security staff, private sector owners and operators, operational managers, IT support, government agencies and organizations.

Moderator: Andrea Schultz, Sector-Specific Agency Executive Management Office (SSA EMO), DHS

Panelists:

Charlie Payne – Chief, Office for Bombing Prevention, DHS

Jim Rosenbluth – International Security Affairs Specialist, Cushman & Wakefield

James Haughom – Cybersecurity Specialist, Network Security Services LLC

Sign Up Today

This Is A Virtual Roundtable You Won't Want To Miss

Log onto <https://connect.hsin.gov/sdaware1/event/registration.html> and register to participate in this important, online interactive virtual roundtable.